

GREG SPENCER, SENIOR PASTOR, FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, NEW ALBANY

I don't believe that this bill is an attack on the LGBT community and those arguments are greatly manipulated. Those of us who submit to Biblical authority don't have the freedom to redefine what marriage is. God has clearly made that distinction. Therefore we must honor his standard and anything outside that standard is a distortion of his plan. I believe this bill protects those who hold to a Biblical conviction about marriage in that they are not forced to take part in something that they hold fundamentally as a contradiction to their statement of faith. It keeps that state from toying with religious liberty. With that being said, scripture clearly teaches us to love and we at First Baptist Church will continue to love as Christ has loved us.
